“ My deepest condolences to MaryAlice and family. How often I think of you, our days when we were young on Hillside Ave we were neighbors and playmates. I have a picture of all of us here, look at it often those were the good old days remembering your wonderful Mom and Dad and brother Bill speaks of Alan so often they played sports together. If you read this, I'd love to hear from you to talk about our good old days. I'm now in Mesa, AZ near my younger son and family. I just turned 80. May Elinor be RIP with a smile. “ As I sneak a couple of candies from the jar in the retirement home lobby, Elinor whispers, “Oh take a whole handful. That’s what I do!”

Elinor was neither a grandmother to me nor an aunt. She was my friend.

She was old but acted like she was 17. She was so full of life and laughter. From cracking herself up because she couldn't pronounce the word “aluminum” to telling me about how she wanted to wear a bikini when she went to Cape Cod; she couldn't possibly bore you. Elinor was entertaining, funny, witty, a bit sassy, and absolutely charming. How could you not fall in love?

You will be so dearly missed. Thank you for sharing your infectious energy and humor with us. Thank you for showing me that it doesn't matter how old you get, you can still have fun. I think it's easy to get bitter with age, but you always had a smile on your face and always managed to put one on mine.
